Just a THOUGHT

SPIRITUAL HAPPINESS

Another July 4th has come and gone. Even though the Birthday of the USA is in the past we are still celebrating our country's values. Our lives reflect the values of our Founding Fathers. We enjoy the freedom to speak what is in our hearts; to seek career, family, and personal goals that use our own talents for our own fulfillment and happiness. Our Gospel this week speaks of Spiritual Happiness. That Spiritual Happiness is achieved by 72 other followers of Jesus besides the Apostles. What a beautiful example of God trusting in us as His human ambassadors. This goal, this fulfilling work of salvation, is not just for those who are "apostles" or "priests." What God desires to achieve here on earth is not limited to wearing vestments, or leading prayers at Mass, or having the title of Friar or Father. This gift is for us all to use for our own spiritual growth which we can achieve by helping another or others. There may be a fear on our part of reaching out to another because of our own shyness in social situations. This is understandable and experienced by every human being. Shyness can cripple us if we do not seek to take steps, small steps, to build confidence in ourselves in social situations. Shyness can also challenge us to seek the ability to remove this emotional wall and ask God to help us to achieve Spiritual Happiness. The biggest temptation for us is to want results "immediately." We begin everything in our lives with "small steps." Small steps in any situation are confidence builders that inspire us to do more to reach goals that we set with God. God "will" offer you an opportunity this week to achieve a goal that is a part of His plan for you and for another. Take that small step and see where God will lead you next.
