News and Announcements

HUMILITY

“Labor Day Weekend.” Wow! Where did the summer go? We celebrate a “Healing Weekend” this weekend. What better way to thank God for our labors and accomplishments, as well as our future goals by acknowledging that God has been a part of what we have done and plan to do. The theme for our readings this weekend is “humility.” We may miss the point of living “humble lives” if we do not see how God has been a part of our efforts. It is healthy to sit back and see and recognize what our labor and personal talents have achieved. It is healthy to recognize that by our human efforts we have achieved spiritual growth. Let us humbly thank God and those we will spend time with this weekend by remembering that God has toiled with us. That God has been present with us during times of joy and sadness. That God is present with us every moment to share in our labors, relationships, accomplishments, healings, strengths, and losses. To be humble in the eyes of God is to approach Him with thankful hearts for what we have accomplished and plan to achieve this week, this year, in our lives. See God’s presence not only in yourself but in your children, grandchildren, neighbors, classmates, and fellow workers. Humbly be healed today with thankful hearts as we continue to thank God for all that we have accomplished. By seeing that we are not alone both spiritually and humanly we will find ourselves as God desires, at a higher place at God’s table.
